

On-line Support with other CPAP Users/CPAP Forums

www.cpaptalk.com This on-line community offers over 31,000 registered members whose combined knowledge equals years and years of first hand Sleep Apnea experience. Members are people with Sleep Apnea who are in the various stages of diagnosis and treatment, as well as, their families, sleep doctors, sleep technicians, and equipment providers.

Once you register, you will have be able to post questions, search through topics and replies that others have posted, access informational and “how-to” videos and learn about local sleep apnea resources.

www.myapnea.org my apnea.org was created by people with sleep apnea, sleep researchers and sleep doctors to help people with sleep apnea treat their symptoms.

Sign up for free to be a member on this site where you can engage in discussions with other members about your diagnosis and treatment. You can post questions into the member forum, search through topics and replies that others have posted, read sleep apnea research and participate in research studies.